Introducing Critical Theory: A Graphic Guide (Introducing...) Professor Stuart Sim

What might a 'theory of everything' look like? Is science an ideology? Who were Adorno, Horkheimer or the Frankfurt School? The decades since the 1960s have seen an explosion in the production of critical theories. Deconstructionists, poststructuralists, postmodernists, second-wave feminists, new historicists, cultural materialists, postcolonialists, black critics and queer theorists, among a host of others, all vie for our attention. Stuart Sim and Borin Van Loon's incisive graphic guide provides a route through the tangled jungle of competing ideas and provides an essential historical context, situating these theories within tradition of critical analysis going back to the rise of Marxism. They present the essential methods and objectives of each theoretical school in an incisive and accessible manner, and pay special attention to recurrent themes and concerns that have preoccupied a century of critical theoretical activity.

Betty Edmond:

As a university student exactly feel bored to help reading. If their teacher inquired them to go to the library or even make summary for some e-book, they are complained. Just little students that has reading's spirit or real their leisure activity. They just do what the trainer want, like asked to the library. They go to there but nothing reading significantly. Any students feel that reading through is not important, boring as well as can't see colorful photographs on there. Yeah, it is to become complicated. Book is very important for yourself. As we know that on this age, many ways to get whatever we would like. Likewise word says, ways to reach Chinese's country.
